

CZAR AND OTHERS OF HIS FAMILY MARKED TO DIE.

of Grand Duke Sergius and Gen. Trepoff, now Governor-General of St. Petersburg, but who was then Chief of Police of Moscow.

PLED TO THE KREMLIN.

As there were many threats made against his life the Grand Duke was obliged to flee to his summer residence twenty miles from the city. During the recent strike disturbances the Grand Duke left the Dischoutny Palace on the outskirts of the city, where he had been living, and took refuge in the village of the Kremlin, where he had since lived in what is known as the Little Palace.

The Grand Duke's Kremlin on that occasion was made at night between September 10 and 11, 1904.

RECORD AS A SOLDIER POOR.

Grand Duke Sergius was the wealthiest member of the imperial family. He was a soldier, and a soldier in manner, in spite of the ruthless fashion in which he exercised his authority as Governor-General. He was a soldier, but had adopted two children of his brother, Paul, who was banished on account of a morganatic alliance. Sergius' record as a soldier was not brilliant. He suffered a disastrous defeat at the hands of Gen. Kuropatkin during the famous Kourak manoeuvres.

Grand Duke Sergius, who is the uncle of the Czar, was born in 1857, and was married in 1884 to Princess Elisabeth of Hesse-Darmstadt. They have no children.

The Kremlin is situated in the centre of Moscow.

It is on a hill forty yards above the level of the Moscow River and dominates the whole of Moscow.

The Kremlin is situated in the centre of Moscow.

It is on a hill forty yards above the level of the Moscow River and dominates the whole of Moscow.

It is a sacred spot for the Russians. There the power of the Emperor receives its religious consecration, and the bells of the cathedral announce to the people that the Emperor has taken possession of the throne of his fathers. A Russian proverb says: "Above Moscow there is only the Kremlin, and above the Kremlin there is only heaven."

The Kremlin is a sort of fortress in the form of an irregular triangle and embraces a whole quarter of the city. It is an immense assemblage of churches, palaces and national monuments, surrounded by a crenellated brick wall twenty yards high and having twenty-one towers.

LIVED IN A CONVENT.

Five gates lead into the Kremlin and they are all curious on account of their difference in style and the historical reminiscences connected therewith.

Among the notable buildings in the Kremlin is the Convent of the Assumption, founded in 1389; the Nicholas Palace, where it is understood the Grand Duke Sergius had been reading, purchased from the convent in 1884 by the Grand Duke Nicholas, who was later Emperor of Russia. Alexander II was born in that palace.

There is also the Convent of Miracles, near the Nicholas Palace, founded in 1389; the Imperial Palace, before the Ivan Cathedral, and the Cathedral itself, with its famous bell.

CZAR ALSO SAID TO BE MARKED FOR DEATH

MOSCOW, Feb. 17.—The news of the assassination of Grand Duke Romya reached the Russian Embassy here first through a newspaper correspondent. Travellers from St. Petersburg who have arrived in this city say it was common talk there that the terrorists had marked four persons for execution, the Emperor, Grand Duke Sergius, Gov. Gen. Trepoff of St. Petersburg and Interior Minister Boulgan.

GRAND DUCHESS HAD BEEN WARNED OF PLOT.

PETERSBURG, Feb. 17.—The assassination of Grand Duke Romya caused a sensation here, and in every where discussed as a part of the long series of Russian horrors. The officials referred to the tragedy as being part of a singular series of catastrophes. The Times says: "It is hard to say why Grand Duke Romya should have been marked out as a victim of the revolutionaries, as among all the members of the imperial family he was the least prominent. He was the youngest son of the Emperor, and the least beloved by him. It was known that the Emperor's personal efforts were checked."

SERGIUS LONG HATED AND HIS DEATH DECREED

The assassination of the Grand Duke Romya was simply the carrying out of a sentence of death pronounced upon him by the social revolutionary party at Moscow last December. Notification was sent him that he would be put to death on the day of his arrival in Moscow to be treated as those of St. Petersburg and Moscow.

He was not satisfied with the warning, but on the contrary, asserted his intention to the direction of substituting the sword for the dagger.

Grand Duke Sergius has often been known as the "evil genius" of the Czar, and was the favorite uncle of the Czar, and also his brother-in-law, having married the Princess Elisabeth of Hesse, sister of the Czarina.

Sergius had the utmost contempt for his nephew, and the bitterest belief in the utterance of the family. He was always a consistent opponent of any movement looking to liberty and he was likewise the most accomplished grafter in the bureaucracy.

By virtue of his exalted position he had access to money and provisions intended for the troops at the front during the present war. He was openly accused of stealing from the army supplies. Some time ago it was proved that he had appropriated to his own use $5,000 intended for the Red Cross, but the Czar protected him.

As Governor-General of Moscow he was thoroughly hated. Indeed, so dangerous was his rule that the Czar persuaded him to resign. He went to St. Petersburg, but returned to Moscow and took up his quarters in one of the small palaces within the Kremlin.

The petition of the zemstvo to the Czar last November asked Grand Duke Sergius with fury. He is reported to have said to the Czar: "These peasants think I am a dog and for that reason."

Grand Duke Sergius was forty-eight years old. He was a morose and brutal fanatic.

here especially as his wife, the Grand Duchess Elisabeth, was known in Rome, having often visited the Italian capital.

King Victor Emmanuel sent his condolences to the Grand Duchess personally and was most affected by the assassination.

DE-LIGHTED! I'VE STRUCK OIL.

KANSAS URGES FURTHER OIL LEGISLATION.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 17.—Further legislation directed against the Standard Oil Company came up in the House today. A bill making oil pipe lines common carriers was reported by Chairman Beckman, of House Oil and Gas Committee, and was made a special order for the afternoon session.

This is one of the two oil bills not yet disposed of. The other one is the anti-discrimination bill, designed to prevent the Standard Oil Company from underselling the state. This bill has been made a special order for next Monday.

Gov. Hoch today signed the bill passed on Wednesday appropriating $200,000 for the erection and maintenance of a State oil refinery with a capacity of 2,000 barrels a day. The signing of this measure will make it possible for Kansas to begin in earnest the fight started in this State recently against the Standard Oil Company.

In signing the bill Gov. Hoch sent a lengthy message to the Legislature reviewing the fight, which has ended in the present legislation and giving his reasons for signing the refinery bill.

Gov. Hoch, in his message, objected to the size of the appropriation made for the purpose of fighting the refinery bill. He said that he differed from the majority of the members of the Legislature only in regard to the method of fighting the Standard Oil Company.

The message also urged the Legislature to supplement the refinery bill with oil legislation which will prevent the Oil Trust from defeating the purpose of the act.

MRS. MAYBRICK VISITS LIBBIE GARRABRANT IN JAIL.

But Paterson's Woman Slayer Was Ill and Refused to Talk—Saw Tenth Prisoners.

(Special to The Evening World.)

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 17.—Mrs. Florence Maybrick, the American woman who spent fourteen years in an English prison for the murder of her husband, visited the New Jersey State prison today to inspect the institution, her visit having been arranged with Headkeeper Osborne. Mrs. Maybrick was taken to the cell of Libbie Garrabrant, of Paterson, a life prisoner, who has served thirty years for the murder of the man for whom she kept house.

The Garrabrant woman was ill in the hospital and although Mrs. Maybrick tried to engage her in conversation her efforts were unsuccessful. The purpose of Mrs. Maybrick's visit is to compare penal institutions here with those in England.

JERSEY POSSE IN HUNT FOR THUG

Negro Attacks Woman in Her Home and Leaves Her in Probably Dying Condition After Robbing the House.

(Special to The Evening World.)

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 17.—As the result of an attack by a negro today Mrs. Frank Birckett, wife of auctioneer Frank Birckett, who resides with her husband in a little house near the gate of the Masonic Home, just outside of Burlington, lies in a critical condition and grave fears are entertained for her recovery.

Mrs. Birckett was doing some light work when a burly negro entered the room and demanded to know where her husband was. Mrs. Birckett replied that he was at work somewhere in the field.

The negro pulled a revolver and pointed it at her. He rushed over to her, struck her over the head with a "bully" inflicting a severe wound. He then searched the house and found a pocketbook, which had a sum of money in it, which he carried away.

After securing the money the negro returned to Mrs. Birckett and again attacked her, but even in her weakened condition she fought so bravely that she was able to hold the thug at bay.

Finally, becoming alarmed at the noise Mrs. Birckett was making, the negro ran away.

A large party led by the husband are out after the negro determined to burn him if caught. It was noted the same day Mrs. Birckett was attacked recently by three negroes who are now serving forty years each for their crime.

JAPS STILL DRIVING RUSSIANS BACK.

TOKIO, Feb. 17.—The following official announcement was made here today:

"On Thursday the enemy's artillery bombarded our positions in front of Shalimpo, Hanchenpao, Mengtapao and their vicinities. To-day at 5 in the morning the officer in command of our troops encountered and repulsed a detachment of the enemy's infantry, about 100 strong, near Pinnulupao."

"The enemy, who had come southward since Wednesday, and were on the Lukanpao, ten miles northwest of Chialiao."

"ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 17.—A detachment from Baichun Manchuria, says that 1,000 Japanese and Chinese bandits are reported to be in southwest Manchuria, in the neighborhood of Chialiao, forty-five miles northwest of Gushun Pass, whence they intend to operate against the railroad."

"A detachment of Russian frontier guards, with two guns, encountered the Japanese Feb. 15 and defeated them. The detachment, however, while advancing was surrounded by two regiments of Japanese cavalry, four companies of Japanese infantry, and a battery of Japanese artillery. One gun was lost and nearly all the men were killed and a number of guns were killed."

"A despatch from Gen. Kuropatkin, dated Feb. 14, says:

"During the night of Feb. 15, the volunteers on our left flank attacked the villages of Valishan and Kizipao, dislodged the enemy, and set fire to the villages. Simultaneously another force of volunteers drove the Japanese from the woods near the village of Blunop."

"On Feb. 14, the cavalry on our right flank repulsed the advance guards of the enemy's cavalry."

CZAR TALKS PEACE WITH HIS MINISTERS

An Intimation of Japan's Terms for Ending the War Has Reached St. Petersburg and Is Considered—Strict Secrecy Ordered.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 17.—6:40 P. M.—The Associated Press learns on exceptionally good authority that the question of peace was formally considered by Emperor Nicholas and his ministers at the conference held at Tsarskoe-Selo yesterday.

No particulars are obtainable, as before the discussion began the Emperor exacted from each one present a solemn promise not to divulge the slightest hint of what transpired.

The belief is, however, that the possible conditions and terms were under consideration.

It is suggested in high quarters that some intimation of the terms has reached the Russian Government from Japan, although it is certain that it did not come through the regular diplomatic channels.

WALL STREET

Friday, Feb. 17.

When James J. Hill said several months ago that the price of Northern Securities stock might touch 100, most people in Wall Street thought that he was joking. A sensational movement in this stock on the curb today carried the price up to within a fraction of 100. The buying of Northern Securities shares was remarkably persistent, and coming as it did from some of the strongest houses in the street it excited much curiosity.

It is evident that the Morgan-Hill following have expectations of important developments in Northern Securities, such as are not shared by the general public. The rapid advance in the price of these shares within the past few weeks has been due almost entirely to buying by insiders. There has been no official statement to account for this extraordinary advance and the idea is left to infer that the secured assets of the corporation are much larger than has been supposed.

President Hill's friends say that he has revealed the surplus profits of the company in very good advantage. The dividends declared do not represent more than three-quarters of the actual earnings of the Northern Securities corporation. The cutting of a very juicy melon for the benefit of the shareholders is expected when the final distribution of the company's assets occurs.

The whirl in Northern Securities on the curb attracted attention to Great Northern preferred in the Stock Exchange. All but one per cent of the stock of Great Northern stock is locked up in the treasury of the Northern Securities Company. There was an unusual demand for this stock in 100-share lots and the price went up 1/4 point.

General strength was imparted to the railroad shares by the multiplicity of the reports of increased earnings. A compilation of these reports shows that for the month of January the gross earnings of fifty-seven railroads aggregated $45,710,000, an increase of nearly $5,000,000 over the corresponding month last year. The last week in January alone showed an increase of $5,000,000 in the earnings of the same fifty-seven roads. The market also derived some sustaining comfort from the harmonious outcome of the Equitable Life Assurance controversy. Such fears as existed of possible disagreeable disclosures concerning loans and purchases of securities made by this great corporation have apparently vanished.

More talk was heard about Union Pacific being put on a 7 per cent dividend basis, and the spirited demand for this stock was a feature of the market. Brokers close to the Union Pacific management bought the stock in 1,000-share lots, and in the last hour the demand became so eager that the price rose to 12 1/2, which is the record price in the present movement. Southern Pacific shares, although not so active, displayed sympathetic strength.

Continued buying of Erie was accompanied by the restoration of the stories of a prospective increase in dividend and a possible increase in dividend basis, and the spirited demand for this stock was a feature of the market. Brokers close to the Erie management bought the stock in 1,000-share lots, and in the last hour the demand became so eager that the price rose to 12 1/2, which is the record price in the present movement. Southern Pacific shares, although not so active, displayed sympathetic strength.

HIS HEAD TURNED BY 'RAFFLES'

Boy Arrested as Robbery Suspect Will Not Admit Theft, but Says the Drama Carried Him Away.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Feb. 17.—Another arrest has been made in connection with the recent robbery at the home of John Lyons, at Pelham, by the police here. The prisoner is John Morris, seventeen years old. He was taken into custody as he came out of a dance hall last night, and was about to buy a ticket for the train to New Rochelle. He was taken to the police station and held over until this morning. He would not deny his guilt, but said he wanted time to think over it. He told the police that he had been reading a book about the "Raffles" and that he had been thinking of doing something like that. He was taken to Mount Vernon today.

Months recently lived in Mount Vernon, and is the son of a highly respected family.

A negro was recently arrested for the robbery and he implicated young Morris, and the police had been watching the young man's movements since he was taken to Mount Vernon today.

The decorations were abandoned when the house was sold to the city. The case is on trial before Justice Leventritt and a jury in the Supreme Court.
